

Purposes, but creates variety of tint when the same. If the result of the inventor's discoveries his expectations, this double employment of the same will be a valuable addition to practical science we may literally have light for nothing, the color being paid with his own pigments.—Times.